WACACO

ABOUT US

Founded in 2013, Wacaco is a startup company based in Hong Kong offering portable coffee makers. No electricity, no battery, we redefine the way to enjoy a cup of coffee with the help of your hand whether you are out for hiking, camping or simply stay at home or in the office.

From espresso to long coffee, we continue to amaze our community with the launch of Minipresso, the first piston-driven handheld espresso maker ever produced, to Nanopresso, Picopresso, Pipamoka and Cuppamoka, the sustainable coffee makers that are greatly beloved by our customers.

An innovative creation, durable, built to prepare authentic coffee drinks, all by Wacaco.

DESIGN CONCEPT

BRAND STORY

Hugo Cailleton, founder of WACACO and master degree's holder in industrial design, has been involved many years in the manufacturing of home espresso machine prior to initiate the development of the Minipresso. The idea of the portable espresso machine, allowing users to pull their own drink on the go, crossed his mind one morning during a business trip after having been disappointed by a poor espresso shot in a hotel.

Back home, he started to examine available offers, bought samples and tested them. But none of those products satisfied him totally. They were too heavy, had poor extractions, shots temperature was too low and they were over priced considering their occasional use. Accustom to enjoy great shots day after day, his creative spirit was set to elaborate an easy to carry device, with performance close to home machines, allowing consumers to produce good espresso anywhere at lower cost.
